Sports Eatery & Pub

EST. 2000

Our Story

In late 1999, three friends—Jerry Edmondson, Eric Sitter, and Chris Etts—decided to take a risk and purchase a local sports bar in Lambertville, Michigan. With Jerry overseeing construction, Eric crafting the menu, and Chris handling day-to-day challenges, they launched Sidelines on May 1, 2000. The community quickly embraced the new eatery, laying the foundation for what would become a thriving business. In 2002, Sidelines made a name for itself by unexpectedly winning first place at the Northwest Ohio Rib-Off, a victory that instantly boosted their popularity and customer base.

Fueled by their success, the team entered more competitions, winning a trophy at each of the 13 events they joined over the next decade. Their growing reputation led to expansion, with new Sidelines locations opening in West Toledo, Maumee, Sylvania, Norwalk, and Perrysburg. They also introduced new restaurant concepts, including Sidelines Italian Grille, Smokehouse 734, Seared Steakhouse, and Smokehouse 419. Despite this growth, the owners remained committed to community involvement, often supporting local schools, fundraisers, and sports teams while providing a welcoming space for large gatherings.

At the heart of Sidelines' success is their dedication to quality ingredients and honest food. The team refuses to cut corners, opting instead for all-natural, hormone-free proteins and fresh, sustainably sourced produce from trusted suppliers. Their farm-to-table philosophy ensures everything served is handled with care from start to finish. As Eric puts it, "Sidelines isn't just about good food—it's about doing things the right way. Quality isn't a gimmick—it's the game plan."
